From the Editor's Desk ...

It is with great pride and warmth that I present this edition of Alumni Xpress, a publication created exclusively to keep alive the enduring bond between you and your alma mater—Srusti Academy of Management and Technology. This platform continues to serve as a vibrant thread connecting our alumni community with the institution's present journey and future aspirations.

At Srusti, we firmly believe that the strength of an institution lies not only in its infrastructure or curriculum, but in the collective spirit of its students, faculty, industry partners, and above all, its alumni. As management education undergoes rapid transformation in the digital age, Srusti is making sincere and sustained efforts to deepen its engagement with industry and governance ecosystems, ensuring that learning remains relevant, applied, and forward-looking.

In this direction, the institution has been actively organizing several National and International Conferences every year, bringing together academicians, researchers, policymakers, and industry leaders on common platforms of dialogue and discovery. A recent milestone was the 27th National Conference on "HR 4.0: Redefining Human Resource Management in the Digital Age", held on 21st and 22nd November, which witnessed enriching deliberations on the future of work, technology-driven HR practices, and emerging leadership challenges. Such initiatives reflect Srusti's commitment to thought leadership and academic excellence aligned with industry realities.

Further strengthening this industry-academia interface is the Industry-Based Skill Training (IBST) initiative for both MBA and MCA programmes. Under this model, experienced middle-level industry professionals engage directly with students, offering hands-on training and real-world perspectives. This exposure plays a critical role in enhancing employability, sharpening practical skills, and making our graduates truly industry-ready.

In addition, Srusti regularly organizes conclaves, panel discussions, and expert interactions, inviting senior professionals from diverse domains of management, technology, and governance. These platforms enable students to interact directly with practitioners, exchange ideas, and gain insights that go far beyond textbooks. Complementing these efforts, the Entrepreneurship Development Cell has expanded its scope to include both MBA and MCA students, nurturing innovation, start-up thinking, and entrepreneurial competencies among young minds.

None of these initiatives would be complete without acknowledging the silent yet powerful presence of our alumni. Your continued support, guidance, mentoring, and goodwill have been invaluable in shaping Srusti's growth story. You are our role models, our brand ambassadors, and our strongest source of inspiration. For this, we express our heartfelt gratitude.

As we step into the New Year, we extend our warmest wishes to each one of you—for good health, professional success, and personal fulfillment. We earnestly request you to continue supporting Srusti in its endeavours—by staying connected, sharing your experiences, guiding our students, and contributing to the institution's journey in whichever way you can.

Together, let us strengthen this bond and carry forward the shared legacy of Srusti Academy of Management and Technology (Autonomous).

With pride and hope,
Dr. Susmita Parija
Chief Editor

President Message

Message from the President, Alumni Association

Dear Alumni and Members of the Srusti Family,

It gives me immense pleasure to extend my heartfelt congratulations to Srusti Academy of Management and Technology (Autonomous) for its sustained and sincere efforts toward academic excellence and institutional growth. Srusti has been steadily strengthening its linkages with industry, alumni, and professionals from governance and public institutions, thereby creating a rich, practice-oriented learning environment for its students. These efforts clearly reflect the institution's commitment to remaining relevant in an increasingly dynamic and competitive world.

The closing phase of 2025 has been marked by significant global shifts. Wars, new diplomatic associations between countries, Rapid digitalization, the growing influence of artificial intelligence, changing employment patterns, and increasing emphasis on sustainability, ethics, and good governance are redefining the expectations from future professionals. Today's graduates are required not only to possess technical and managerial competence, but also to demonstrate adaptability, critical thinking, ethical judgment, and social responsibility.

In this evolving context, institutions like Srusti have a crucial role to play. Management and technology education must continuously recalibrate itself by integrating industry exposure, experiential learning, interdisciplinary perspectives, and values-based education. Such an approach will help students grow as competent professionals as well as responsible and sensitive citizens. I am pleased to observe that Srusti is consciously moving in this direction by fostering stronger engagement with practitioners, alumni, and leaders from diverse sectors.

I would like to take this opportunity to urge all alumni of Srusti to remain actively connected with their alma mater. The growth and reputation of an institution are deeply influenced by the strength of its alumni network. Your mentorship, industry support, academic inputs, guidance, and participation can significantly enhance the quality of education and student outcomes. Srusti can truly grow and excel with the continued involvement and goodwill of its alumni.

As partners in Srusti's journey, let us collectively contribute to shaping future-ready professionals who are innovative, ethical, and socially committed. Your engagement—big or small—can make a lasting difference.

As we step into 2026, I extend my warmest wishes to all alumni and their families for a year filled with prosperity, good health, and success. I also wish Srusti Academy of Management and Technology (Autonomous) continued growth, excellence, and impact in the years ahead.

President, Alumni Association

Alumni Perspective

The journey began on August 23, 2018. Out of 46 students, I was selected as a Campus Reporter after three rounds of a rigorous selection process. A panel of five jury members conducted two rounds of written assessments, after which four of us advanced to the viva round. Ultimately, I was selected for the position. Following this, all the Campus Reporters from different B-Schools were invited by Business Standard to their office to meet the late Dilip Satpathy (Senior Journalist), marking the official start of our journey. As I concluded my journey as a Campus Reporter on 31/08/2019, I would like to share some reflections that I hope will assist you in your own journey. Being a Campus Reporter has been one of the most enriching experiences of my MBA life. It provided me with the opportunity to explore the pulse of our campus, interact with diverse individuals, and give voice to stories that often go untold. The role requires curiosity, responsibility, and consistency. You will find yourself rushing from one event to another, interviewing students, faculty, and guests—all while meeting tight deadlines. Through this process, you will learn how to observe deeply, write meaningfully, and communicate effectively. Remember, every story matters—whether it is about a small student initiative or a major campus event. Your words have the power to inform, inspire, and connect our community. Stay ethical, remain curious, and always strive for authenticity in your reporting. Cherish the moments, build networks, and make the most of this platform. It is more than just a role; it is a journey of growth, learning, and expression. I wish you all the best as you carry forward this legacy.

Alumni Perspective

If someone is interested in starting their own entrepreneurial journey, he or she must first understand their risk-taking ability. Entrepreneurship is not a single point of success; it is a continuous journey of delivering value, along with financial returns.

To become an entrepreneur, you must understand:

- People's mindset
- People's buying behavior
- People's demands
- The present market and the future market

You must then:

- Finalize a particular product or service to deliver
- Identify and finalize your target market or customer segment
- Assess and arrange all necessary resources to start the business, such as products or services, infrastructure, manpower, vendors, and finance

Once a business is launched, you need to manage your daily operational and overhead expenses, including:

- Customer servicing
- Strengthening the financial position of the business
- Vendor management
- Staff management
- Financial management
- Marketing
- Brand creation
- Building brand legacy

All these are basic requirements for a stable and sustainable business.

If you want to become wealthy, you need to be both a businessperson and an investor.

A strong business always stands on four strong pillars—team, vendors, customers, and finance—with the founder as the roof holding everything together.
